ROOSEVELT AT LOUISVILLE.

All Honor Paid to the Chief Executive at Our Metropolis.

Happy Introduction of President By Governor Beckham

FINE TRIBUTE TO BLUE AND GRAY.

President Roosevelt was Louisville's guest yesterday for two strenuous, delightful hours and the proud metropolis of Kentucky did our chief executive all honor.

The President's train arrived over the Louisville and Nashville at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, and the procession was formed as soon as his party could be conducted to the grand stand at Third and A streets, where Acting Mayor Paul Barth extended a brief welcome. Five hundred school children, lined up on Broadway, sang "My Old Kentucky Home."

Upon arrival of the President's train the President's salute of twenty-one guns was fired and this became the spring of boundless enthusiasm all over the city.

The parade was formed as follows:

FIRST SECTION.

Mounted police (24 men.)

Grand Marshal.

Siebert's Band.

Drum and Trumpet Corps.

K. M. I. Cadets.

SECOND SECTION.

Wehrle's Band.

Mounted Citizens with President's Colors.

Carriages containing Loyal Legion, G. A. R. and Confederate Veterans.

President, surrounded by sixty police on foot, ten mounted police behind second carriage.)

Eight carriages containing his party and those assigned to accompany it.

THIRD SECTION.

Band.

Carriages, two abreast, containing invited guests and committee men.

The chief ceremonies took place at the courthouse steps where the President was introduced by Gov. Beckham in happy vein as follows:

"Ladies and Gentlemen: Not only the people of Louisville, but the people of all Kentucky rejoice today in welcoming among us the President of this great republic. Regardless of all political differences we are here to do honor, not only to the Chief Magistrate of this country, but also to Theodore Roosevelt," the man." (Great applause.)

"We recognize his eminent patriotism, his integrity, his fearlessness, and we all believe him to be a friend of the great common people throughout this country. We also look forward to him during the next four years as the ruler of this republic, to obliterate the last faint line of sectional differences that may exist in this country. (Applause.)

I believe that it is in the power of this great man, who more than any other President since the big brained and big hearted Lincoln, holds the affections and the confidence of the people of this country—I say, I believe it is more in his power than in the power of any other man to establish beyond question the fact that there is no North, no South, no East and no West in this country. (Applause.)

"I shall not withhold longer the chief attraction of this occasion, and I present to you the President of the United States, the Hon. Theodore Roosevelt," (Loud and prolonged applause.)

Mr. Roosevelt responded in an impromptu speech prompted by sentiments of the occasion. He said in part:

"Governor Beckham, and you, my fellow Americans. (Applause.) Surely any man would indeed be gratified to be greeted in this way by such an audience, and be introduced as you have introduced me, Governor Beckham. (Applause.)

"As the Governor has so well said, upon all the important questions, the questions that infinitely transcend mere partisan differences, we are fundamentally one. (Applause.)

"For in the question of foreign and internal politics, the points upon which there can be no proper division on party lines infinitely exceed in number those upon which there can be such division, and, Governor Beckham, I shall do all that in me lies to justify the hope to which you have given expression and to try to show myself the President of all the people of the United States." (Prolonged applause.)

"And, naturally, I feel peculiarly gratified at seeing, here, today, joined in this procession, the men who wore the Blue and the men who wore the Gray. (Great applause.)

"In the dark days—now, keep just as quiet as you can; you won't be able to do anything more than see me, anyhow. (Laughter and applause.) In the dark days each of you fought for the right as it was given him to see the right (a voice, "That's right") and each of you has left us the right to feel pride not only in your valor, but in your devotion to what you conscientiously believed your duty. (Great applause.)

"And now we are all one (cheers and long continued applause) and as a reunited people we have the right to feel the same pride in the valor of the man who conscientiously risked his life in the Confederate uniform, that we have in the man who fought in the Blue. (Applause.) And as I passed by your ranks, oh, my friends in Gray, today, and saluted the flag of our common country, held up by a man in the gray uniform, I felt indeed we are one, and that we have been able to show mankind that the greatest war of the century can be followed by the most perfect union that any nation now knows." (Great applause.)

Three handsome souvenirs of historic value were quietly presented to the President during his stay in Louisville. They were a silver flagon filled with water from the spring on Lincoln's birthplace; an inkstand made from wood grown on the Abraham Lincoln farm and mounted in silver by a Louisville jeweler; a beautiful silver vase of special design.

GOLDEN CROSS WILL MEET.

Arrangements Complete for Coming of the Kentucky Grand Commandery.

Big Public Meeting Arranged for Temple Theatre Thursday.

EARLINGTON AGAIN TO THE FORE.

As has been previously extensively announced in THE Bee, the Sixth Biennial session of the Grand Commandery of Kentucky, United Order of Golden Cross, will be held in Earlinton Wednesday and Thursday next, April 12 and 13.

Earlington Commandery, No. 525 will hold a special meeting Wednesday evening for the purpose of exemplifying the work of the order upon a class now waiting initiation. The degree team of the commandery is composed of ladies who are said to have reached a high degree of proficiency.

Earlington people are proverbially hospitable to the friendly stranger within our gates and all officers and representatives of the Golden Cross will be entertained free of cost during their stay here. Several hundred delegates and visitors are expected.

The public meeting at Temple Theatre on Thursday morning at 9 o'clock is the chief feature of the occasion, at least so far as concerns those not initiated into the secrets of the order. At this meeting a rousing reception will be given by the city of Earlinton to the Grand Commandery. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend this meeting and a movement is on foot to have the business houses close during the hour of meeting.

The program will be as follows:

1. Music. Song by the Earlinton Choir.

2. Invocation—Rev. H. J. Bratzelton.

3. Welcome Address—Sir Knight W. F. Burr, Mayor.

Adjournment.

The following are official announcements made by officers of Earlinton Commandery:

To Citizens of Earlinton.

During two days, twelfth and thirteenth of April, members of the Supreme and Grand Lodges of the Golden Cross will meet in session in our city. Between hours of nine and ten o'clock on the morning of the thirteenth a public reception is to be held at Temple Theatre. As this is the first time the executive officers of any of the great fraternal or ders of our country have held a session in Earlinton, we ask that during the hour of the reception our merchants close their places of business to permit employees to attend services at the theatre. As the membership in attendance will come from Maine, New Hampshire, Tennessee, and Kentucky, and the gentlemen and ladies are representative citizens of the communities in which they reside we are desirous that courtesies for which the citizens of Earlinton are noted may be extended to the visitors.

DWELLING BURNS.

Miss Ella Johnson's Residence Burned in Madisonville Saturday Afternoon.

Miss Ella Johnson, who kept a boarding house on Union street in Madisonville, had the misfortune to lose her house by fire Saturday afternoon. The fire was caused by a small boy who was visiting at the house setting fire to a barrel containing straw and saw dust. In a brief space of time the fire had gained such headway it was impossible to extinguish it. A hose from the corner of Center street was attached to the fire plug and a heavy stream of water was played on the adjacent houses and they were prevented from burning. Fortunately there was no wind blowing. The property was insured for $1,200 and was worth $1,800. Nearly everything in the house was lost. Miss Johnson has moved to the Christy residence temporarily, but will rebuild on the same site as soon as possible.

PEOPLE TALKED ABOUT

Ramon Corral, who a few weeks ago was sworn in as vice president of Mexico, is the first man to serve in that capacity in the Mexican republic. The Mexican constitution made no provision for such a situation, so a long time General Diaz did not want the arm, but he is growing old and cannot serve many more terms. Last spring the constitution was amended to permit of the election of a vice president, and when the convention of the National party met it named Senor Corral, minister of interior, for the office, and he was duly elected.

It was generally expected that when President Diaz retires Senor Corral will be his successor.

In many respects the Mexican vice president resembles the typical Americanized business man of the United States. He is fifty years of age, has been reporter, editor, soldier, lawyer, member of legislature, and is now a successful man.

He is a five president.

The speech sounds much like the recital of the career of one of the public men of the United States.

As a matter of fact, the Mexican vice president is a good example of Yankeeization in the United States, is educating nine of his family of nine children as are of school age in Uncle Sam's schools and favors the closest social and commercial relations between Mexico and the great republic to the north.

The state of Coahuila, in which he was born, of which he was twice governor, is the most Americanized of all the Mexican states. Senor Corral is very popular with the Mexican people.

Senator William B. Allison of Iowa holds the record for the longest continuous service in the United States Senate.

He has been there thirty-one years and ten months. Until recently the record stood to the credit of Senator Morrell of Vermont.

The longest actual service record was made by the Senator of Missouri.

His senatorial career was interrupted by periods of service in the cabinet, but altogether his membership in the senate covered but a few years less than thirty-two years.

At least three presidents have offered service.

The position of secretary of the treasury, but he has uniformly declined to leave the senate.

But one position seems to him preferable to a seat in the senate—namely, the presidency—and several times that he has seemed to be within his grasp.

He is now about 80 years of age, and his ambition in this direction is not likely to be realized.

Senator Allison is noted as being a brilliant and diplomatic, though not striking in looks, man, his methods are so soft and polite that he has gained a reputation for never saying "no," and the late John J. Ingalls once remarked that Allison was so pliable that one could never tell whether he was for or against anything.

He was at the foot of his class in school, but he was such a greenhorn. He never wore any suspenders, but was always buttoning up his trousers. His coat was always full of holes, and girls made fun of him. He would run after us, if he caught one of us, and his girl was sure to be kissed.

When a schoolboy Senator Allison was known as "Big Eyed Bill." A lady used to say to him, "I once heard you say 'no' to something."

"I did not say 'no,' " he would reply, "but I did say 'yes' to something."

"What is it?"

"It's 'The Gondoliers.'"

Martin Harvey, the young English actor who vaulted into fame by his impersonation of Sydney Carton in "The Man of the Law." is an ardent devotee of Horatio Alger novels and loves the manly ways of that great English tragedian.

Outside of his work as a member of the theatrical profession Mr. Harvey's chief hobby is painting his sketches.

He is considered a clever painter and also has some knowledge of sculpture.

He is very fond of dogs and rarely is without one of his pets beside him when he goes to the theater.

When in London Mr. Harvey lives in a beautiful house in St. John's Wood. His holidays he spends at the seaside. During the summer he travels to the ocean he boards at a small hotel, where he did not fare to his liking. On going away he took his revenge on the laundry in a fashion of his own. His hostess was so angry at his behavior that he had to leave to go to his hotel in London.

He is a man of great energy and has composed just four words:

"I quote the raven." As the landlady had never read Edgar Allan Poe's poem, she was not "on" as we say in America. But guests who followed him up to the hotel were greatly surprised.

LOCOMOTIVE BLASTS

THE ENGINE'S SONG.

(Arthur Guiterman in the Four-Track News.)

Through hills and forest and field and plain;

I rush with the roaring train; My strength is the strength of a thousand men;

My brain is my master's brain

I borrow the senses of him within Who watches the gleaming line;

His pulses I feel through my frame of steel.

His courage and will are mine.

I hear, as I swerve on the upland curve,

The echoing hills rejoice

To answer the knell of my brazen bell.

The laugh of my giant voice

And, white in the glare of the golden ray,

Or red in the furnace-light,

My smoke is a pillar of cloud by day.

A pillar of flame by night.

Morganfield, Ky., April 1.—A meeting of the citizens of Morganfield was held in the courthouse tonigat to discuss and take Wheatecroft was John S. Loven, a Chicago capitalist. Mr. Wheatecroft proposed to build the road providing the citizens will subscribe for $60,000 of first mortgage gold bonds. The subscriptions will be solicited by a committee appointed by the Commercial Club and the indications now are that the road will be built.

Hopkinsville, Ky., April 2.—

The jury in the case of H. W. Deason against the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company for $5,000 damages for alleged personal injuries sustained in falling from a train returned a verdict in favor of plaintiff for $3,000.

The Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company has let the contract to a local firm for the erection of a new freight depot in Hopkinsville to cost about $20,000. The building will be of brick and the front of its kind in the State outside of Louisville.

Conductor John Lindsey was slightly injured at Mt. Vernon, Ill., on April 1st by falling from a box car.

Thomas Walsh has returned from Redding, California. One half hour after leaving Sacramento they were caught in a snow storm. In Colorado there had been heavy rain, washing away a bridge approach, so that Mr. Walsh was delayed a day at Denver. Arriving home Mr. Walsh found the weather 65° above zero. Thus he had a taste of winter, rainy season and summer in the course of but a few days.

Mr. Thomas Young, who has been ill for sometime, is able to resume work again.

THE GOLDEN CROSS.

This is the first time in Earlington's history that the grand lodge of any fraternal body has come to meet us. But there is behind us the proud history of acceptable entertainment offered to other important gatherings, notably the meetings of the Kentucky Press Association and that of the United Confederate Veterans, and the coming of a grand lodge does not stagger the broad hospitality of the city of Earlington. All arrangements have been completed for the comfortable entertainment of the individual representatives of the various Commanderies of Kentucky and of the Grand Commandery. The spacious and comfortable quarters of the Masonic orders of Earlington have been tendered the Earlington Commandery for use of the Grand Commandery. Temple Theatre will be thrown open for the public meetings in honor of that body. Every possible courtesy will be extended to our visitors, including a visit to the coal mines, coke plant, Loch Mary, and all the interesting points around our picturesque city. Earlington homes are at the command of our visitors and Earlington hospitality will again be demonstrated.

THE BEE will issue next week a sixteen page Easter edition for the benefit of our subscribers and advertisers. While this is by no means as large as we would like to have it, still in view of the fact that last week we issued a ten page and this week a twelve page paper we feel that sixteen pages will cover the case. This number will be filled with up-to-date news, Easter stories, current news, railroad, mining, farming, educational news and advertisements. We feel justified in saying that this edition will carry as nice line of advertising as any weekly in the State and these same advertisements conclusively prove that THE BEE is a fertile field in which to place advertisements. The merchants advertising in this edition are all responsible and reliable and we feel no hesitancy in recommending them to our readers.

The winningest sentiment in these fruitful days of the American Republic is that against race suicide. Theodore Roosevelt was the most thoroughly elected man ever run for office. And now comes Judge E. F. Dunne, of Chicago, with a wife and ten children and a majority of twenty-four thousand for mayor of the windy city.

The contract called for 20,871 square yards to be laid with vitrified brick with four inches of concrete as a foundation. The price was $1.60 per square yard netting him the nice sum of $33,394.35. Mr. Hall has quite a number of friends and well-wishers in Earlington who will be pleased at his success.

JUDGE E. F. DUNNE WINS IN CHICAGO

Bitterly Fought Mayoralty Contest
Won by the Democrats.

PLURALITY GOES OVER 24,000

As a Result the City is Committed to the Policy of Municipal Ownership of Public Utilities by Quick Method.

Chicago, April 5.—A political tornado overwhelmed one of the most ruggedly unique leaders in the country, and the most uncompromisingly honest in a community effort to capture the mayoralty of Chicago. As a direct result, the city is officially committed to the policy of the quickest possible cessation of private franchises for public utilities. Municipal ownership is especially threatening to street car lines which have high up in the street.

After winning successfully four remarkable biennial fights of independence against the regular republican party, and the Democratic party, in the election of 1903, the democratic party captured the mayoralty of Chicago. The defeat is attributed to an extraordinary whirl of political maneuvering, political intrigue and taking in a wide sweep, embracing the most up-to-date wisdom as a factor. The victor is Judge Edward F. Dunne, democrat.

Seldom if ever, has Chicago witnessed a more evenly contested election than this. The city was hideous with the ringing of cowbells and the roar of cannon crackers.

The republican candidate suffered severely from campaign attacks, charging that he was a political assassin. Alleged unworthy leaders of his own party who had been thrust from office and power largely through Harlan's aggressiveness in previous campaigns, were conspicuously absent from the scene. The results were eminently reported as "safe."

It was a raw, blustering day, gloomy and cold for the most part until about the hour for the close of voting. Appeals to fear of the consequences of a republicans victory were answered by a steady rain, which was accompanied by a powerful wind, and undoubtedly would have handled the chief executive roughly had he not been interrupted. The news of the capture was withheld by the press.

Worthington is now in jail, and will be sent to an asylum.

Communication with him is held by means of written questions and answers, as he pretends to be deaf and dumb. He is asked to answer in writing to what his position was with the governor, Worthington said: "I was inspired by Pyrus, the god of fire, to come here and kill Gov. Hoch. I have sworn eternal vengeance against all who oppose me, who persecute me and who made me a self-made man. If it had not been for his office who captured me, Gov. Hoch would have been no more, for I was on my way to the capitol to kill him when I was arrested. One who has risen from poverty to wealth is in a place in the world enemy of the impious and ignorant. Therefore I hate Hoch."

Worthington dresses well, and has the appearance of a man of intelligence. He is tall and strong, and his red hair and eyes are strikingly marked.

He is the son of C. D. Miller, the officer of the juvenile court, whose attention was attracted by the peculiar actions of the man.

He was given 161,659 votes out of a total of 322,273. Mr. Harlan, the republican candidate, received 137,411; Collins, the independent, 12,000; and Stewart, prohibition, 2,980. John Smulski, the republican candidate for city attorney, was re-elected over his democratic opponent by nearly 15,000 votes. The other candidates on the democratic ticket were elected pluralities, somewhat smaller than Judge Dunne.

Elected for Sixth Term.

Quincy, Ill., April 5.—John A. Steinmetz, democrat, was elected mayor for the sixth term by a plurality of 800. The entire democratic city ticket was elected.

An Independent Elected.

Rock Island, Ill., April 4.—G. W. McCaskill, independent, was elected mayor over the democratic and republican candidates.

Kenosha, Ill., April 5.—The democrat defeated the mayor by 206 plurality and four out of six aldermen, making the council stand 7 democrats and 5 republicans.

WANTED TO KILL GOV. HOCH

An Insane Man "Inspired by Pyrus, the God of Fire," to Do Murder.

Said He Had Sworn Eternal Vengeance Against All Self-Made Statesmen.

Topoka, Kas., April 5.—An insane man who gave his name as George Worthington, whose former place of residence the police have been unable to learn, was captured within a block of the state house, where he said he had planned to kill Gov. E. H. Hoch. The man was captured in his bed of a powerful build, and undoubtedly would have handled the chief executive roughly had he not been interrupted. The news of the capture was withheld by the press.

Worthington is now in jail, and will be sent to an asylum.

Communication with him is held by means of written questions and answers, as he pretends to be deaf and dumb. CONSUMPTION'S WARNING

Inside facts soon become evident in outside symptoms.—DR. G. C. GREEN.

The aid of scientific inventors is not needed to determine whether your lungs are affected, for the first symptoms can be readily noted by anyone of average intelligence.

There is no disease known which gives so many plain warnings of its approach as consumption, and no serious disease that can be so quickly reached and checked, if the medicine used is Dr. Borsch's German Syrup, which is made to cure consumption.

In the early stages that German Syrup should be taken, the warnings are given in time, that will quiet the congestion of the bronchial tubes and the gradual weakening of the lungs, accompanied by frequent expectoration.

And no man need ever fear your cough, even if dread consumption has already attacked your lungs. German Syrup is a mighty elixir—such as it has done before in thousands of apparently hopeless cases of lung trouble.

But few people have any conception of Florida's extent. Jacksonville is about as far north of Miami as it is south of Charlotte, N.C.—about as far north of Key West as it is south of Danville, Va. Ignorance of the extent of Florida leads to many amusing mistakes. It takes over 24 hours to go from Pensacola to Miami. A land trip from one end of Florida to the other is as long as from the lakes to the gulf.

Here and There.

Feed and pasture in abundance are what make fine, fat hogs and healthy pork.

The hog is useful on the farm as a scavenger to eat the refuse and drink the slop and extra milk.

Because an old sow has been valuable is no reason why she should be kept beyond her age of usefulness.

Pow up the hen yard this spring and sow oats, lettuce or rye. It will be a feed saver and an egg maker.

Of course the cow that is well born will always show her bringing up; but the man has more to do with her success than most of us.

A small nest and a large number range one male is sufficient to say of eggs is usually the cause of the first hatchets being poor—the very hatches that we are most desirous should be successful.

He who puts the finest product in the market reaps the richest harvest. Eggs are refined wheat, corn and grass, and they contain much that on the farm would go to waste.

The way to build up a thrifty, paying poultry business is to always send the customer a little better quality than he has any right to expect to receive for the amount paid.

If the hens have the run of an orchard they will not render a good service in protecting the trees from injurious insects as they will if confined yards around the trees.

The south is dotted with cottonseed oil mills, and what was once regarded as refuse now brings nearly $100,000,000 a year to the south, but the mills take the best of the seed.

It takes more age to develop a horse than any animal, and it does a light-boned one and the heavy-boned animal don't grow as well.

To have horses get the greatest benefit from their feed give them sufficient time to masticate it before putting them to work after a meal. Oats are the material which the oats and will turn into travel. A little careful observation will enable one to determine how much grain the horse ought to have.

Inimite nature as much as possible in securing forest conditions in the orchard by keeping the soil well shaded with mulch or some growing crop that can be worked back into the land.

Do not be afraid to invest $100 in a good dairy breed to head your herd. See to it that this sire is a descendant of prolific milkers, and that he has good breeding qualities.

It is said that never before in the history of Kentucky has there been such a scarcity of mules, and in consequence of a heavy demand prices are unusually high. The exportation of mules within the past few years for war purposes is given as the cause of the scarcity.

"There," said the agriculturist,

"we have our proof. This is just a piece of litmus paper. For 5 cents each dozen hens, unless the variety is one which is very inactive, when a greater number should be kept. But where the fowls are closely confined, an average of one male is sufficient to keep for each dozen hens.

Culinary Receipts.

Granulated sugar makes a better meringue than powdered sugar.

Save rice water when you have boiled rice for curry, as it makes a very good foundation for stock or sauce.

In cooking tough fowls or meat, one tablespoonful of vinegar in the water will save nearly two hours' boiling.

One cook always puts a crust of bread into the water in which greens are boiled. She says that the bread absorbs an objectionable rankness of flavor.

Nearly everything made with baking powder may be raised equally well with sour milk, buttermilk or soda, allowing one even teaspoonful of soda to each pint of milk.

Bastard oil is often improved by rubbing two ten-centavos or salut oil over it, then leaving it so for several hours between two plates. This is said to soften the meat fiber.

Tidy Farm Labors.

Farm hands in Yucatan wear linen garments of spotless white. When they become even slightly soiled, they hasten to change them. Work is plentiful there, farm laborers are well paid, and they can afford to be tidy.

A Simple Test to Show the Productivity of Soil.

The state experiment stations are doing great work for the farmers.

The following incident shows how simple some of the tests are when you know how. A station official was going over a farm with the owner, when they came to a craggy piece of land just back of the barn. The very weeds looked yellow and unhealthful.

"I am inclined to think," remarked the agriculturist, "that this land is too acid for productivity. We can determine this in a moment."

Taking a blue piece of paper from his pocket, he stooped and dipped the paper into some of the soil water, holding it in a cow track. To the owner's astonishment, the blue paper changed to a red color, as soon as it was immersed.

"There," said the agriculturist,

"we have our proof. This is just a piece of litmus paper. For 5 cents drug store. Its change of color shows that the land is sour. Crops cannot thrive on sour land any more than children can thrive on sour milk."—Country Life In America.

A Successful Play.

Frank L. Perley's newly organized opera company which comes to the Morton theater tonight in the comedy opera, "The Girl and The Bandit," has achieved marked success in its short career and is fully borne out by Mr. Perley's prediction that it would rank as a worthy successor to the famous Bostonians.

The company comes to Morton's Theatre fresh from a record breaking seven weeks run at the Studabaker theater, Chicago, where "The Girl and The Bandit" was such a pronounced hit that the engagement was extended three times and the house was packed to the limit on the closing night. The book of the opera is by Mrs. A. C. Tyler and J. Cheever Goodwin. Mrs. Tyler wrote the lyrics and the music is by Frederick Cull Wright. The secret of the great success of the play is that it provides entertainment for everybody, from the most inquisitive holder of a gallan check to the scrutinizing box occupant. It is comedy in of the lively, bright, clean, wholesome sort that a player can laugh at without being ashamed of himself when he leaves the theater.

The score contains any number of musical gems—some of them on the popular, whistable order and others decidedly pretentious in the matter of compositions. In order to get the best out of this play, it is necessary for Mr. Perley to secure a highly organized organization and persons who have seen "The Girl and The Bandit" declare that he has gone the limit in this respect. The opera is in two acts, the first showing a carnival night in Venice and the second revealing a bandit's retreat in Austria Tyrol. The locale of each scene gives ample opportunity for exquisite costuming and elaborate scenic investiture and every possibility has been made the most of by Mr. Perley. The company is a strong one and the list of principals includes such well known favorites as Viola Gillette, Mabel White, Alice Darr, Elsie Green, Harry Joseph, Miriam Waite, John George J. MacFarlane, Charles Meekins, and Ned McNeil. The orchestra and chorus are the ones of its very strong features is the chorus which is composed of exceedingly pretty faces and fresh voices.

Prices: Boxes, $2.00; lower floor, $1.50; balcony, $1.00 and 75c; gallery, $1.00.

PIANOS

A Great Variety of Them

One of the many gratifying thoughts of a man's life is when he can sit and listen to his daughter perform nicely on a piano. Another is when his earthly mission is finished he can close his eyes with the assurance that he has not withheld from daughter the opportunity for a musical education. What accomplishment can be of greater assistance to any young lady?

We are just now extending an opportunity to our friends to have a piano in their homes on the most liberal terms; $10 and up down and small monthly payments will put the piano in your home. You may have the use of it while the balance is being paid. It certainly makes piano buying easy to have the following to select from:—Steinway, Steck, Conover, Schubert, Sterling, Kingsbury, Warner, Wellington, Wesser Bros. and others.

We still contend that we are in position to sell pianos, quality considered, at lower prices than any other dealer. We have convinced others.

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT

How to Teach Spelling.
There is no royal road to good spelling. It is learned, if at all, by studying—learning one word at a time—and much drill in the form of news.

Spelling is an art in which one becomes expert from study and drill. Drilled till skill in recognizing the correct form, in thinking and naming the letters in their proper order, in constructing the exact form of motor energy (writing the word) comes practically automatica.

The child, as he enters school, does not receive impressions thro the ear and the eye with equal facility, either does he express himself with equal readiness by means of the hand and the voice. It is the function of the school not only to give instruction but in doing so to develop into harmonious proportions the avenues of impression and expression. In her words, the child must be taught to take in knowledge from the print-page thro the eye as readily as he thro the ear from the sound of the human voice, and to express himself as easily thro the motor activity of the hand by means of the voice.

In teaching spelling, it is desirable that the teacher make use of both forms of impression as well as both modes of expression, taking special care to develop those avenues that are least active.

Three things are to be considered in teaching spelling:

(1) The assignment of the lesson.
(2) The study period.
(3) The recitation.

If the teacher is to obtain satisfactory results she must give to each of these subjects proper consideration.

THE ASSIGNMENT.

The assignment of the lesson is a very important part of the work and should in no case be slighted. The following suggestions concerning the assignment should be observed:

(1) The teacher should pronounce words aloud, the pupils follow-

(2) Syllabication and accent would be clearly indicated by pauses, and by stress of voice.

(3) After looking at a word closely pupils should be asked to take their eyes from the page and "image" the word.

(4) Emphasize the necessity of indicating accent and syllabication.

(5) Call attention to silent letters, peculiar spellings, and especially difficult words.

(6) Teach the most helpful rules and have them applied.

(7) Make free use of blackboard, especially with the lower grades.

(8) Give specific instructions as to how the lesson is to be studied. The following will be found effective:

(a) Study the word from the printed page or from the blackboard.

(b) Take the eye from the written or printed form and study the image of the word that has been formed in the mind.

(c) Write the word on the slate or on paper.

(9) The tendency will be to slight the "eye and image" part of the work and overdo the copying work. This should not be permitted. The teacher in this work is teaching her pupils how to study and she must insist on her directions being observed.

THE STUDY PERIOD.

(1) The study period should be devoted to a close and faithful continuation of the work outlined by the teacher both as to matter and manner of preparation.

(2) The preparation should be with special reference to the points emphasized in the assignment.

(3) The study should be close, intense, and uninterrupted.

(4) The teacher should follow closely the mind movement of the pupils during their period of study.

THE RECITATION.

(1) Purposes.

(a) To give instruction.

(b) To test preparation.

(c) To correct errors.

(d) To fix the correct spelling of words.

(e) To develop distinct articulation.

(f) To develop correct pronunciation.

(2) The recitation, above the first grade, should include both oral and written spelling, the former preceding the latter.

(3) Do not pronounce a word but once or permit a pupil to stop to think, or stammer or blunder over the spelling of a word. If he cannot spell it, teach him at once.

(4) Require pupils to pronounce the word, spell it, and pronounce it again.

(5) In oral spelling, require pupils to syllabicate by making a slight pause at the proper places. In written spelling, words should be syllabicated two or three times per week.

(6) If possible to avoid it do not permit pupils to see or hear incorrect spelling, hence, a word that has been incorrectly spelled should not be passed on to the next pupil—spell it immediately for the pupil or write it on the board, or do both. The word "next" has no proper place in a spelling recitation.

(7) The habit of making prominent some part of the word to indicate the proper spelling is precious in the extreme. Pronounce the words correctly. It is the pupil's business to recognize and spell the word after hearing it properly pronounced.

(8) After the oral spelling, require pupils to write the words. The oral spelling is the period of instruction and drill, while the written spelling is the real test of the pupil's proficiency.

(9) The papers should be carefully corrected by the teacher.

(10) In measuring the proficiency of pupils from day to day only one standard should be used, perfection, but in formal examinations, which are made a matter of record, give pupils credit for exactly what they do.

(11) Make the recitation intense, spirited, and positive. Give it variety from day to day by emphasizing different features of the work. Require pupils to use words in sentences, to write sentences and paragraphs from dictation, etc.
